

Rethinking the Management of Type 2 Diabetes in the Community: Findings from the Patient Engagement and Coaching for Health Study

This forum will present findings from the Patient Engagement And Coaching for Health (PEACH) large diabetes trial in Victoria and discuss the implications of its findings for clinical practice and policy. The content will be of interest to all those delivering care to older people in the community with diabetes or chronic diseases.

- Explore the role of health professional support in self-management of type 2 diabetes
- Learn about the impact of psychosocial, demographic and cultural factors among people with type 2 diabetes
- Learn about the outcomes of a telephone coaching intervention to optimise glycaemic control of people with type 2 diabetes
- Consider key aspects of and challenges in type 2 diabetes management in the community

Hear from leading expert

DR IRENE BLACKBERRY

Deputy Leader Ageing, Chronic Disease and Equity Research, General Practice and Primary Health Care Academic Centre, the University of Melbourne and Research Fellow, National Ageing Research Institute

