VISIT AAG.ASN.AU

#AAGCONF19
As Patron of the Australian Association of Gerontology, I welcome you to the 2019 AAG Conference.

The Association’s multidisciplinary approach, connecting research, policy and practice, is improving the experience of ageing in Australia. Their commitment to a multi-disciplinary and evidence informed approach, exemplified by activities like this conference, is of significant benefit to all Australians.

The theme for this year’s Conference – ‘Coming of Age Together: New Ways of Knowing & Acting’ highlights the importance and contribution of older people in society. It is a critical message to share to the broader community.

I look forward to hearing the outcomes of your discussions and thank you for your commitment to this important issue.

I wish all delegates and presenters an enjoyable and fruitful few days to learn, share experiences and to come together in the pursuit to improve the experience of ageing.

David Hurley
His Excellency General the Honourable David Hurley AC DSC (Retd).
Governor-General of the Commonwealth of Australia
As Chairs of the 2019 Conference Committee, it is our pleasure to welcome you to Sydney for the 52nd Australian Association of Gerontology Conference, “Coming of Age Together – New ways of knowing & acting”.

New ways of knowing and acting require us to look at our attitudes and experiences of ageing. It is easy to see ageing as something that happens to other people. We need to acknowledge that we are ALL ageing.

AAG has a proud tradition of creating conferences that connect research, policy and practice to improve the experience of ageing. This year you will find a rich and diverse program, that demonstrates a culture and standard of excellence for evidence informed approaches.

In the spirit of working together, there are presentations by local older people’s organisations. These highlight older people’s creativity, activism and work in building community. You will also meet older people who are volunteering as part of the conference.

This year’s Conference has attracted a record number of presentations that will showcase international and Australian speakers. Over the next three days, there will be over 300 presentations from older people, emerging and renowned researchers, aged care, health, and allied practitioners; policy makers and other professionals working in the field of ageing who will share their experiences, research and knowledge.

The AAG Conference offers a great opportunity to catch up with colleagues and make new friends. At the same time there will be many first-time delegates to an AAG Conference and we would like to welcome you to the AAG community.

Carrie Hayter and Dr Anthony Brown
2019 AAG Conference Planning Committee Chairs

I am pleased to welcome all delegates to the 52nd Annual Conference in Sydney. By coming together, there will be plenty of opportunities to explore New Ways of Knowing & Acting.

The Conference theme really does reinforce AAG’s purpose; To improve the experience of ageing through connecting research, policy and practice. As the peak organisation linking researchers, educators, policy-makers, practitioners and other experts engaged in ageing issues, I welcome you to seek and connect with others to explore the future in ageing.

I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate both Scientific and Planning committees for their energy and creativity to develop a diverse program showcasing all facets of scientific and non-scientific work.

I look forward meeting you and wish you the best for a great Conference, where we “Come together to explore new ways of knowing & acting”.

SPECIAL THANKS TO OUR OLDER PEOPLE VOLUNTEERS

Thanks to COTA NSW and the Older Women’s Network for their work in facilitating the engagement and participation of the 24 older people over 3 days who have generously gave their time to be part of the 2019 AAG Conference.

PRESENTATIONS BY OLDER PEOPLE’S ORGANISATIONS AT THE CONFERENCE

The 2019 AAG Conference Planning Committee is delighted to present an innovative and unique program of ‘Extra’ events focusing on engaging older people.

In the spirit of working together, there are presentations by local older people’s organisations. These highlight older people’s creativity, activism and work in building community. Delegates will also meet older people who are volunteering as part of the conference.

The activities are complementary to the program and are designed to inspire, dazzle and prompt reflection on the lived experience of ageing in the real world, built around our commitment to the conference theme, Coming of Age together – new ways of knowing & acting.

“We are all older people – now or in the future – and we saw the participation and engagement of older people during the conference as an opportunity to challenge ageism, to demonstrate positive images of ageing and to challenge researchers, policy makers and practitioners to explore how they engage and promote the participation of older people in their work. We partnered with Council on the Ageing (COTA) NSW and the Older Women’s Network (OWN) in shaping this program.”

Carrie Hayter – Co-chair 2019 Conference Planning Committee

Look for exhibitors and displays in the Exhibition Hall each day from a range of local groups connected with older people - the Men’s Shed Association; COTA NSW, the Knitting Nannas, and the Waverton Hub, for example. Or join the ‘Yarning Circle’ hosted by AAG’s Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Ageing Advisory Group (ATSIAAG).

WEDNESDAY 6 NOVEMBER

Morning tea: 9:40am - 10:00am

OLDER WOMEN’S NETWORK NSW THEATRE GROUP – ‘DON’T KNOCK YOUR GRANNY’ www.ownnsw.org.au

From the lawns of old Parliament House in 1987 to the 2018 Edinburgh Fringe Festival, the @ownnswtg has presented highly entertaining socio-political parody cabaret about issues impacting older women. This performance presents highlights from their highly acclaimed show that brings elder abuse out of the shadows and into the spotlight. Through laughter and tears, in sketches, song and puppetry performed by formidably feisty females aged 60–90, the show explores real issues affecting the older members of our society, from intergenerational challenges to family violence.

Lunch: 12:30pm - 1:30pm

B.OLD SHORT FILMS – WINNERS OF COMPETITION SPONSORED BY QUEENSLAND GOVERNMENT DEPARTMENT OF COMMUNITIES, DISABILITY SERVICES AND SENIORS

Eight filmmaking teams were awarded $10,000 each to produce short films that challenge stereotypes about ageing. The winners were chosen because they celebrate older people, their achievements and contributions; prompt audiences to reconsider what it means to get older; inspire people to pursue their dreams and desires at any age and show how a truly age friendly society can be.

Co Creating and Innovating in Residential Care: Three films by Three Thumbs Productions

A creative collaboration between Charles Sturt University and Catholic Healthcare

This selection of three films exemplifies the relationship between creativity and innovation, where creativity is associated with ideas, and innovation is linked to implementation of ideas. Thus creativity informs innovation, and because something has been implemented, changes occur. Creativity for individuals and organisations can lead to a dramatic aspect of organisational change in which a deeper consciousness and understanding of self evolves.

Older people, no matter where they are in their life journey, are just slightly older versions of us all...the same people we have always been...same curiosity...same humour. Add to this the artist’s insight into the nature of people and the notion of evolving, and we see people in these films who are connected, engaged and transformed by their experiences.

Through co-creation, residents and staff adapt creative arts methods to achieve their aspirations, despite communication difficulties, such as diminished ability to hear, speak and read, and the restrictions of their mobility and environment, that redefine their identity.

These films, all co-created by residents with staff within the surrounds of a residential aged care home, capture ‘change within’, as perceived by residents. The level of camaraderie, competitiveness, and humour which is evident is no different from any other group dynamic. The experience of admission to a residential aged care home is hauntingly explored in the first film, “The Unknown Man”, written and directed by Henry Yekanians. The second film, “Together We Inspire and Create”, exposes the development of murals in the residential aged care home and the involvement of residents in the process. The third film, “Making of Shakespeare”, tells the background story of how residents adapted to their roles in a scene from the play “Comedy of Errors”.

If you would like more details about the films please email mbramble@csu.edu.au
